

Practice Standards

December, 2012

Section IV, Administration of Defender Services

1. Attorney-Client Communication:

Goal: Regular and confidential communication between attorneys and clients is a necessary part of effective representation.

A. Effective representation of an accused client requires prompt and effective communication with the client. This communication includes personal and telephone contacts with a client in custody.

B. To ensure the privacy essential for confidential communication between counsel, public defender staff, and client, adequate facilities should be available for private discussions in jails, prisons, courthouses, healthcare facilities, and other places where accused clients must confer with counsel.

C. Personnel of jails, prisons, custodial institutions, and healthcare facilities should be prohibited from examining or otherwise interfering with any communication or correspondence between client, defense counsel, or public defender staff relating to legal action arising out of charges or incarceration.

D. Each jail or detention facility should make available an unmonitored and unrecorded toll-free telephone for purposes of allowing indigent clients to contact and confer with counsel and public defender staff on at least a daily basis. Counsel should be allowed personal contact with an incarcerated client at any time upon counsel's request.

E. A public defender office policy, contract for indigent defense services, and individual assignments of counsel shall include a requirement that a client in custody must speak with counsel either in person or by telephone at least weekly, unless otherwise agreed between the client and counsel.

F. The Regional Public Defender Offices shall take appropriate action to ensure these standards are implemented.